

BIOMETRIX CPT

Custom Procedure Tray for Urology

Designed according to urological surgery setup requirements, Biometrix's custom procedure tray for urology includes a wide range of top quality medical devices for the various urological surgery procedures.

Comprised of Biometrix's carefully selected single-use components, and tailored to answer your individual needs, the tray enables you to offer immediate treatment in a completely sterile environment, addressing the major concerns of fluid control, infection, and patient and surgeon safety.

Biometrix CPT Urology provides a reliable and efficient procedure tray, ensuring high performance and significantly reducing overall surgical procedural expenses.

- Manage emergency cases quickly and confidently
- Reduce cost and setup time of overall procedures
- Simplify and quicken stocking and restocking
- Maximize infection control with sterile single-use products
- Save space and minimize waste with compact packaging

You are just a few steps away from your individual user-friendly Biometrix CPT Urology:

1. Choose the components you require from the product list.
2. Review the (non-sterile) sample tray, provided for your convenience.
3. Discuss proposal and receive contract offer.

Biometrix offers an extensive choice of first class components, allowing you to create the optimized tray and save your organization time, money and hassle.
